

*This essence was made with both the flowers and the crab apples (impossible!)
Unfortunately the photographs of the blossoms on the tree have been lost along with the negatives so we are left with a scanned (but beautiful) picture.*

September Crab Apple

August 28, 2003

for realizing all things are possible & feeling supported in missions of faith and hope

I sit here on familiar land.....
land that I have prayed with for two years.....
land that has been tuned and blessed.....
land that has changed from an industrial site
to beautifully tended flower gardens,
honored centennial trees,
blessed rocks,
and transformed buildings offering light and spirit
to the high school students who attend Waldorf education here.
It is September 28, Autumn in Michigan.....
cool nights, warm days.....
leaves beginning to change color.....
air nippy and fresh with the changing season.
I sit here with a crab apple tree that is full of fruit
yet also covered with Spring leaves and blossoms.

We have come to a time in history
when we are required to give our all
and to not use old standards for what is possible.
All things are possible to those who believe and understand this.
This essence supports the heart in its knowing, in its believing and releases us from the need for proof.
The proof is in the pudding, as my mother used to say.
If we provide our effort,
our wisdom,
our heart into the process
the results will bear fruit.

This essence speaks that the time is now for us and all of humanity.....
that the time and pace of all life has quickened.
We are moving fast now.
That is good.
Take this essence to help you stay in your heart
and feel the Divine support of Nature through this process.
This is an essence to help you release your fears that you can't do it,
that you can't keep up.
You can.
You are supported in your holy missions.
Stay focused, believe and expect a miracle.

With love from an old crab.
