

*Spiraea is a shrub in the Rosaceae family native to the temperate Northern Hemisphere
The genus Spiraea contains about 80-100 species, with the greatest diversity of species native to eastern Asia Bridal Veil is a form of Spiraea often planted around homes in the first half of the twentieth century.
Its arching branches flow with an abundance of small white flowers in the Spring.*

Bridal Veil

Spiraea

Helps one to abundantly work with times of expansion and growth

The Bridal Veil blossoms with profuse abundance, putting out prolific expansion and growth each Spring day.

Its small white sweet-scented flowers dazzle by their sheer beautiful mass.

This essence helps one work with issues of accumulation,
growth
and abundance.

It helps one to learn how to work with our own patterns of growth & expansion in a clear and exuberant manner that elicits an abundant response from Community and Universe.

It works with us as we learn to put this abundance into action for continued growth and prosperity... and helps to quell self-limiting and stagnating thoughts that hold us in patterns of fear and poverty.

Bridal Veil essence then assists us in understanding the difference between accumulation and abundance.....
Helping us to become more abundant by releasing our need to hold on and resist the natural flowing nature of prosperity.....
Showing that growth
and giving of the heart and from the heart create the full coffers that we all long for and open our doors to a Universal Flow beyond our wildest dreams.
